Itinerary

This biking vacation lets you explore the southwest of France as you cycle along the Canal de Garonne from Bordeaux to Toulouse. After visiting Bordeaux, you'll have a pleasant bikeride on the Roger Lapedie Bike Path until you reach Sauveterre-de-Guyenne. Next, you'll cycle a hillier stretch for a few kilometers, passing through vast vineyards and orchards. Upon reaching La Reole, you'll be on the Canal de Garonne bike path again. This route goes along the water and past nice traditional villages such as Le Mas d'Agenais and Damazin. Enter the city of Agen by crossing a historic canal bridge. Follow the cycle route, seeing several lock houses, decorated with flowers. At the village of Moissac, take time to explore the distinctive abbey and cloister. Leaving the Canal de Garonne path, you'll cycle to Montauban. Get back on the canal trail, which leads you to your destination : Toulouse.

Day 1

Bordeaux

You might want to enter the old city section by riding along the quays of the Garonne. The Bordeaux quayside is one of the most magnificent waterfronts in the world. Bordeaux was awarded UNESCO World Heritage status in 2007 because of the beautiful 18th century facades and outstanding buldings. Discover the banks of the Garonne River and check out the buildings made with white chiseled stone.

Day 2

Bordeaux – Saint-Martin-de-Lerm

Bike
68km

Altitude
±290m

This morning you'll leave Bordeaux and take a pleasant , designated bike path out of town. Upon reaching Latresne, the path meanders away fro the river and you'll riding on a converted railroad track. Don't worry. No trains will be coming! The old train stations along the route offer friendly services for cyclists such as food, coffee and informations. We suggest you leave the cycle path and explore the bastide of Creon (Bastides are towns built from scratch in the 13th and 14th century). Check out the remains of the La Sauve Abbey or the Church of Sauveterre-de-Guyenne. The final leg of your route is a bit hilly until you reach your destination, Saint-Martin-de-Lerm.

Day 3

Saint-Martin-de-Lerm – Le Mas d'Agenais

Bike
42km

Get warmed up this morning by biking on a few hills before reaching the medieval town of La Reole on the Garonne River. From there, the path flattens out as you ride along the dikes and reach the Canal de Garonne. The pleasant cycle path runs alongside the canal. If you like, make a detour to the village of Couthures-sur-Garonne, where you can learn about ancient and present river life. The day ends when you reach the charming village of Le Mas d'Agenais and its outstanding church and its remarkable Rembrandt.

Day 4

Le Mas d'Agenais – Agen

Bike
49km

Start the day by biking along the path next to the canal. The route is dotted with quaint villages, containing locks where you can watch boaters navigate each lock. Just a stone's throw from the canal, admire the bastide of Damazan with its colorful facades or the bastide of Serignac-sur-Garonne with its bell tower made of slate. Towards the end of the route, the bike path crosses the magnificent canal bridge over the Garonne River on the outskirts of Agen. You'll soon be very close to the city center where you can absorb the sights, sounds and smells of southwest France's way of life.

Day 5

Agen – Moissac

Bike
46 / 54km

Leave Agen on the canal bike path and wind amongst the hills. If you're looking for a pleasant rest stop, check out the bastide of Valence d'Agen, built by the English. Continue biking past cute lock keepers' houses, many decorated with abundant flowers. Up to a challenge? Leave the canal path and head slightly uphill towards the fortified village of Auvillar, listed as one of the most beautiful villages in France. Your shorter choice is to follow the Canal path until you reach Moissac. The town is known for its medieval buildings, including the abbey church, which has famous and important Romanesque sculpture around the entrance.

Day 6

Moissac – Montauban

Bike
44km

Today's ride takes you along the canal bike path across the plain to Castelsarrasin. The route leaves the canal path for a short time and transfers over to quiet, backroads to the Abbey of Belleperches on the riverside of Garonne. From there, get on the canal path again until you reach the Montech Marina. Now the route follows another canal path all the way to Montauban, an old city built with pink bricks.

Day 7

Montauban – Toulouse

Bike
60km

The day starts with an easy ride back to the Canal de Garonne where you enter the suburbs of Toulouse. Soon you'll see the junctions of the Garonne and Midi Canals. Cycle a bit further and you'll be in the city center of Toulouse. Stroll around and explore the Roman Cathedral of Saint-Sernon, the Jacobins Church or the Renaissance mansion of Assezat.

Day 8

Departure from Toulouse

Enjoy a walk in Toulouse streets before leaving.
