Arrival in Chagny

Discover Chagny, located at some twenty kilometers from Chalon-sur-Saône, this small town between canal and vineyards boasts a diverse heritage.

Chagny - Beaune

Bike
30km

Bike lane

Drive slowly on the towpath of the Canal du Centre to Santenay. Then you definitely enter the vineyard region by visiting the spectacular vineyards of the Côte de Beaune and leisurely stroll around the winehills of Chassagne-Montrachet, Puligny-Montrachet, Meursault, Pommard or Beaune. A real treat!

Beaune - Vosne-Romanée

Bike

Cycle path

After leaving Beaune, you quickly return to the vineyards and discover the Côte de Nuits and its centuries-old traditions. Your itinerary takes you to the gates of the Château du Clos Vougeot, a highly symbolic site founded by the monks of the Cîteaux Abbey. You'll learn all about the architecture and the rites of the Chevaliers du Tastevin brotherhood. There's a loop along the way to Château de Savigny, before continuing along the slopes to the small wine village of Vosne-Romanée.

Vosne-Romanée -Dijon

Bike
29km

You continue your discovery of the vineyards of the Côte de Nuits and its centuries-old traditions. Your itinerary takes you to the gates of the Château du Clos Vougeot, a highly symbolic site founded by the monks of the Cîteaux Abbey. You'll learn all about the architecture and the rituals of the Chevaliers du Tastevin brotherhood. Continue on to Dijon, former capital of the powerful Dukes of Burgundy. This lively, gourmet city offers a warm welcome in its remarkably well-preserved pedestrianized town center.

Dijon

Described as the "city with the hundred bell towers" by François 1er, Dijon was the capital of the powerful Dukes of Burgundy. The city has inherited architectural gems such as the Palace of the Dukes of Burgundy, Notre Dame church with its famous carved owl or the mansions of the old city center. Dijon is also well-known for its food specialties such as gingerbread, mustard, blackcurrant liquor or nonette (pastry).
